

DETECTING AIRBORNE MICROORGANISMS

Abstract.

A new apparatus and method for collecting and detecting airborne microorganisms comprises a culturing container containing liquid media capable of growing the suspect microorganisms and a pump for drawing an air sample containing the suspect microorganisms through the liquid media. The suspect microorganisms mix with the liquid media and are subsequently incubated to promote their growth and cause an indication of their presence.

(K:\WP\JMD\Patent-Detecting Airborne Microorganisms.doc)